History Curriculum Intent:

At Heather Avenue Infant School, we understand and recognise the needs of all our children and families, and in response offer a story rich, topic based curriculum, underpinned by the Early Years Foundation stage or National Curriculum.

In History, we aim for a high quality history curriculum which inspires in pupils a curiosity and fascination about their past and that of the wider world. Our teaching equips pupils with knowledge about their own history and history of Britain and how it has influenced and been influenced by the wider world.

We want children to enjoy and love learning about history by gaining this knowledge and skills, not just through experiences in the classroom, but also with the use of educational visits.

We learn about historical events, people and places, on a local, national and global scale, and much more (please see our curriculum map below for further detail). Our children will develop a knowledge and understanding of the correct vocabulary for each area, alongside a skills base which allows them to explore, enquire and understand a range of historical concepts.

We encourage children to develop their skills to ask perceptive questions, think critically, weigh evidence, sift arguments, and develop perspective and judgement. We want children to enjoy and love learning about history by gaining this knowledge and skills, not just through experiences in the classroom, but also with the use of educational visits. This aims to prepare the children for the next stage of their education, preparing them for a bright future in a changing world.

History Curriculum Implementation:

As a staff, we maintain strong links to the National Curriculum and EYFS guidelines to ensure all aspects, knowledge and skills of History are being taught across all year groups.

Our Curriculum maps (incorporating key vocabulary) are used to create medium term plans which show the sequence of learning and links to our class topics. History is taught as a block of work throughout Keys Stage 1, and as appropriate through Reception under the 'Understanding the World' strand, with links to the class topic. This ensures that learning is built on progressively allowing children to develop their knowledge and skills effectively, as well as giving time to use and apply their learning.

Through our teaching, use of historical artefacts, and visits, we will attempt to excite and intrigue our children to find out more about events and people from the past. Children will demonstrate their understanding through a range of outputs, including discussions, practical enquiries, written work, art work and more. This is shown through our online learning journal, Tapestry, and in the children's Topic Books in Key Stage 1.

Teachers regularly assess History via Classroom Monitor and ensure that any gaps in understanding are quickly addressed. They ensure all children can access the teaching of History with high expectations and standards. Subject leaders also play a crucial part in monitoring progress and offering support, which is demonstrated in our SOAP (subject on a page) document.

History Curriculum Impact:

Our teaching of History enables children to achieve well, to make comparisons between their own lives and begin to understand the changes that have happened through history including local history. We aim for our children to be equipped with historical skills and knowledge, alongside a genuine curiosity around the subject, which will enable them to be ready for the curriculum at Key Stage 2 and for life as an adult in the wider world.
