Heather Avenue Infant School Newsletter

Volume 54, Issue 8

It's been an incredibly busy week, with everybody celebrating World Book Day! It was great to start the week with our Book afternoons, the children and staff thoroughly enjoyed learning with you and we hope you enjoyed the stories and activities too.

Tuesday saw us visited by our author, David Bedford. The children had a great time working with him and were really inspired by his wonderful work.

It was great to see all the children's favourite stories on World book Day and share their enthusiasm for reading these much loved stories!

Thank you for all the effort that went into World Book Day - pyjamas/costumes and the financial contributions that came in - alongside contributions from FOHA. These will all help to cover the costs of the events that we have put on for the children - all of which we know will enhance their love of books and reading!

Today we are really excited to be visited by Kaboodle Theatre as they share their performance of Skyscraper! We also have our FOHA Non - School uniform day in exchange for an Easter raffle donation. Thank you for your support in these events - FOHA work incredibly hard to provide extras for the children and really appreciate your support in doing this - thank you!
